

“IN SEARCH OF A CURE” 23RD ANNUAL GOLF EVENT

Dear Friends,

I am pleased to announce the 23rd annual “In Search of a Cure” Golf Event in honor of my beloved 32 year old autistic son Bryan. As in the past, the Event is being hosted by our hard working friends at Silver Lake Country Club located in Orland Park, Illinois on Thursday July 30, 2026.

We are looking forward to another successful Event and as always, we hope to exceed last year’s incredible results. In the past twenty-two years, together we have raised over $9.4 million dollars that has been utilized for research to enable us to reach our ultimate goal of finding a cure for autism.

All proceeds from the Event will be donated to Easterseals on behalf of the Therapeutic School and Center for Autism Research / Terrence J. Hancock Family Campus in Honor of Bryan D. Hancock, located at 13th and Damen Avenue, Chicago, Illinois.

The campus has been providing outstanding education, intervention and treatment programs, clinical affiliations with world renown Universities and hospitals, vocational training, job placement programs and independent living facilities to serve children and adolescents that have been diagnosed with autism. And perhaps most importantly - cutting edge clinical research conducted by the finest autism researchers in the country right here at the University of Chicago whose mission is to identify the causes, develop interventions and treatments and ultimately eradicate this major disability!

Today 1 in 31 American children are diagnosed with autism before the age of 8 - 1 in 20 are boys! Every 11 minutes a family receives the devastating news that their child has been diagnosed with autism! Together, with your assistance, we can help develop and implement research programs that are of paramount importance, not only in finding the cure, but in developing successful treatments for individuals like my amazing son Bryan.

It is my hope that you will continue to partner in our annual Golf Event and join me in our quest to “change the world” by supporting the Terrence J. Hancock Family Campus in Honor of Bryan D. Hancock located right here in the wonderful City of Chicago.
